Questions Presented

Does the granting of an ex-parte pre-judgment attachment order against petitioner in favor of respondent deny due process?

Does the granting of an ex-parte pre-judgment attachment order against petitioner in favor of respondent, who is a national bank, deny equal protection?

Can the courts of Ohio treat a resident of the State of New York as a non-resident when that citizen of the State of New York has substantial and ongoing contact and commerce within the community in Ohio.

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE COURT OF APPEALS, SECOND APPELLATE DISTRICT, MONTGOM-ERY COUNTY, OHIO and/or HONORABLE J. MEAGHER, PRESIDING JUDGE, MONTGOMERY COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, MONTGOMERY COUNTY, OHIO.

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

Grounds for Jurisdiction

Under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. 1257, an appeal for certiorari to the United States Supreme Court from "final judgments or decrees rendered by the highest court of a state in which a decision could be had . . ." and the constitutional duty to uphold and enforce the various amendments of the Constitution of the United States.

Statement of the Facts

Generally the statement of the facts are set forth in the underlying pleading contained in the appendix of petitioner and respondent.

This action stems from a case entitled City of Dayton, Ohio vs. William Kuntz, III, et al., 88 U.S. 749, cert. denied, involving a portion of the funds awarded to petitioner by the jury of the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court for property commonly known in Dayton, Ohio as the Alladin Cleaners.

Subsequent to this court's denial of the petition for certiorari, counsel for petitioner, then Manley, Burke and Fisher, LPA, of Cincinnati, Ohio, fashioned an order of distribution over the express instructions of petitioner and segmented the fund into three checks.

The first check was delivered to Peter J. Walsh, Esq., as trustee of the One Westminster Co., Inc., property owner. The second check was paid over to First National Bank of Dayton, Ohio, upon an unlitigated lien claim. The third check was delivered to petitioner's counsel in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Subsequent to the delivery of the check to petitioner's counsel, said check was delivered to petitioner in Albany, NY by Federal Express. Petition proceeded to the United States Bankruptcy Court in Wilmington, Delaware, and in an appearance before the Honorable Judge Helen S. Balick, United States Bankruptcy Court, so advised the court that he was in possession of the check and that his view was that these were properly estate funds as they represented co-mingled proceeds from the one-half undivided property interest of Westminster and petitioner (In re 1 Westminster Co., Inc., Debtor, U.S. Bankruptcy Court, District of Delaware [Case No. 83-14]).

Petitioner so advised the court that he was prepared to deliver the check to the trustee upon the issuance of a turnover order.

Petitioner subsequently presented the check to the bank upon which it was drawn in order to obtain its exchange for a cashier's check as the check has a restrictive memorandum on its face impairing the time in which it would be negotiable.

On May 8, 1989, Manley, Burke and Fisher, LPA, made an application to the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for fees in the above captioned matter with regards to legal efforts on behalf of the petitioner and One Westminster Co., Inc. The court, after reviewing the application, granted about $47,000 in fees, disallowing as a credit $20,000 already paid to counsel by petitioner.

On July 5, 1989, Peter J. Walsh, Esq., withdrew as trustee and upon application was paid a sum of about $9,700 for expenses and fees for his services from 1983 through 1989. At that time Mr. Walsh confirmed that he had in fact paid over to the Manley firm the sum of $47,000. Petitioner was then restored to debtor-in-possession of Westminster.

The petitioner has taken an appeal of the Manley fee award which is now pending in the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit (In re 1 Westminster Co., Inc., Debtor, U.S. Court of Appeals, 3rd Cir. [Case No. 90-3442]).

Subsequent to the fee hearing before the Bankruptcy Court, Manley, Burke and Fisher, L.P.A., made an additional fee application before the Honorable Judge Brown of the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery County, Ohio, for an additional $51,000.

There, the Manley firm represented by affidavit on motion to the Court in late May, 1989, that the check in question remained outstanding and unpaid.

In September, 1989, it was discovered by the Manley firm, the court and the clerk and respondent upon whom the check was drawn that petitioner had negotiated the check months before and verbal demand apparently was made then upon the bank by the Honorable Judge Brown and here, respondent made a credit of $73,000 back to the clerk's account and a check was promptly issued to the Manley firm for an additional sum of $51,000 under a theory of a charging lien pending the outcome of the determination in Philadelphia. Now, on appeal, City of Dayton, Ohio vs. William Kuntz, III, et al., Ohio Supreme Court (Case No. 90-1563).

As set forth in the prior pleading, respondent then obtained an ex parte order of prejudgment attachment against property of petitioner without notice and opportunity for hearing.

Petitioner took an appeal which has led to this petition.

Arguments in Support.

Petitioner has set forth below as set forth in his appendix, and as referred to recent Federal cases that it is a clear denial of petitioner's due process and equal protection rights for the bank to have prejudgment attachment without notice and hearing.

Nothing set forth by the bank meets the threshold of the constitutional tests for such state assistance, the sum in question is less than $100,000 and respondents have attached assets with values far in excess of that amount in an effort to extract a settlement from petitioner.

Further, as petitioner has cited, national banks are apparently exempt from prejudgment attachments and accordingly it denies petitioner equal protection under the United States Constitution.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays the court grant the Writ and allow this case to come forward and clearly settle again the issues which petitioner maintains are supported by an ongoing line of Supreme Court cases.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

On October 5, 1990 plaintiff-appellee commenced an action in the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery County, Ohio Civil Division against defendant. On October 10, 1990 plaintiff-appellee obtained an ex parte without Notice Order of Pre-Judgment issued by the Honorable Judge Meagher of the Common Pleas Court. On October 13, 1990 defendant-appellant received the moving papers of the October 10 order and on October 18, 1990 the clerk of the Common Pleas Court mailed to the defendant-appellant a copy of the complaint together with the summons.

That complaint together with the original summons came to defendant-appellant in Albany, NY on October 30, 1990.

At that time defendant-appellant took an Appeal of the Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment to the Court of Appeals of Montgomery County, Ohio. On April 5, 1990 the Court of Appeals dismissed the appeal on the basis that the order of October 10 was not a final appealable order. Defendant filed a Notice of Appeal which was docketed on May 7, 1990 due to the weekend and a copy of which is enclosed herein.

The Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment sought among other assets of the defendant-appellant real estate located in Montgomery County, Ohio.

PROPOSITIONS OF LAW

Proposition of Law 1: That an ex parte Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment violates the due process requirements of the Federal Constitution.

Proposition of Law 2: That a Pre-Judgment Attachment by a national bank violates the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution.

ARGUMENT OF DEFENDANT-APPELLANT
WILLIAM KUNTZ, III

It is the contention of defendant-appellant, that the Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment granted without hearing or notice is clearly in violation of the constitutional rights of defendant-appellant. Defendant-appellant submitted in his brief to the Court of Appeals the four leading cases of the Supreme Court of the United States on Pre-Judgment Attachment. Defendant-appellant's brief was filed on or about December 7th, 1990.

In reviewing for this brief, defendant-appellant came across the recent opinion of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit which was decided on March 9, 1990. Pinsky, et al. vs. Duncan, et al., 898 Federal Reporter, 2nd 852.

While needless to say defendant-appellant cannot match the reasoning in detail of the Honorable Judges Pratt and Mahoney, it is clear that the result there as an analysis is correct. The only clear distinction is that in the Duncan case the defendant-appellant brought an additional action in Federal District Court attacking the Connecticut Law as unconstitutional on its face.

Defendant-appellant clearly puts this question now before this court as to whether an ex parte Pre-Judgment Attachment is unconstitutional. (Copy of Duncan & defendant-appellant's brief attached)

Further in conducting research for this brief defendant-appellant came across U.S. vs. F.D.I.C. vs. Taylor dba Exploration Services, USCA 5th, 881 F.2d 207. In that case under Federal Statute 12 U.S.C. 91 prohibits attachment against a national bank unless and until a final judgment is rendered. (copy attached) It is thus clear that as defendant-appellant would be unable to obtain a Pre-Judgment Order against a national bank. It must follow under the equal protection provisions of the U.S. Constitution that as plaintiff-appellee is a national bank and that the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery County, Ohio granted an Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment in favor of Society Bank, NA, that such an order is a clear violation of equal protection.

Accordingly defendant-appellant would submit that the court take up this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM KUNTZ, III

II. STATEMENT OF THE CASE

A. FACTS. The facts of this case are not at issue; however, they are briefly summarized herein. On February 7, 1989, Judge Brown issued an Entry and Order of Distribution in the case captioned City of Dayton v. William Kuntz, III, Case No. 86-2439 on the docket of the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court ("City of Dayton case"). In said Entry, Judge Brown ordered the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts to issue a check made jointly payable to "William Kuntz, III and his attorney Robert Manley." The Clerk of Courts complied with the Entry. The check was drawn on Society Bank, National Association, Plaintiff-Appellee, herein.

William Kuntz, III, pro se Defendant-Appellant herein, eventually received the Clerk's Check. Without obtaining the endorsement of the co-payee, Robert Manley, William Kuntz negotiated the item in such a manner so as to obtain all the proceeds of the Clerk's Check: Society Bank debited the Clerk's account for the face value of the Check.

Sometime later, a demand was made upon Society Bank to recredit the Clerk's account because the item was not properly payable. Society Bank complied with this demand and later filed suit against William Kuntz to recover damages caused by his actions. The instant appeal involves an Order issued within that case.

B. PROCEDURAL HISTORY. The procedural history of this case presents the issue for Appeal. On October 5, 1989, Society Bank filed its Complaint against William Kuntz in the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court. On October 10, 1989, Society Bank filed a Motion for Pre-Judgment Attachment, accompanied by the required supportive materials. Judge Meagher sustained Society Bank's Motion and issued an Order for

Pre-Judgment Attachment ("Attachment Order"). See Appendix, pp. 12-16. That same day, Society Bank filed a Praecipe with the Montgomery County Clerk of Courts, instructing that the Clerk issue to William Kuntz copies of the Motion for Pre-Judgment Attachment, Order of Pre-Judgment Attachment and Notice that an Order of Attachment had been issued. The Attachment Order attached:

1. Certain Real Property owned by William Kuntz, III;
2. All money on deposit with Bank One, Dayton, NA standing in the name of or held for William Kuntz, III; and
3. Any interest of William Kuntz, III in the funds held by the Clerk of Courts in the City of Dayton case.

William Kuntz took no action concerning the Attachment Order in the Trial Court.

On or about November 11, 1989, William Kuntz filed a Notice of Appeal to the Montgomery County Court of Appeals of the Attachment Order. Appellant's Brief was filed on December 7, 1989. On January 8, 1990, Society Bank filed a Motion to Dismiss Appellant's Appeal, contending that the Order appealed from was not a final, appealable Order, thus denying the Appellate Court jurisdiction to hear the Appeal. Alternatively, Society Bank argued that William Kuntz had not complied with the procedural requirements in filing his Brief.

On April 5, 1990, the Appellate Court sustained Society Bank's Motion, stating "Since the order does not determine the action nor prevents a judgment, the order appealed from is not a final appealable order." Decision and Entry, p. 2. Appended to Appellant's Brief, pp. 5-6. Appellant's Application to Reconsider that Decision was denied by the Appellate Court, the Court stating “we have reviewed our prior decision and decline to change our ruling that the order which was sought to be appealed is not a final appealable order.” Decision and Entry, p. 1. See Appendix, pp. 17-18.

William Kuntz filed his Notice of Appeal to this Court on May 7, 1990.

III. ARGUMENT

A. PROPOSITION OF LAW ONE: AN ORDER OF PREJUDGMENT ATTACHMENT ISSUED PURSUANT TO SECTION 2715.045 OF THE OHIO REVISED CODE IS NOT A FINAL APPEALABLE ORDER.

This Court has recently stated that it “will grant a motion to certify only if there is a substantial constitutional question or if the case is of public or great general interest.” Noble v. Colwell (1989), 44 Ohio St. 3d 92, 94. However, if the trial court’s order of which a review is sought is not a final order, then this Court will not entertain the appeal as it lacks subject-matter jurisdiction to do so. Id. This rule applies to the lower appellate courts as well, and the Appellate Court in this case correctly decided that the Order appealed from was not a final order from which an appeal could be taken. That decision should not be disturbed by this Court.

To be a final, appealable order, the order at issue must:

1. affect a substantial right;
2. determine the action; and
3. prevent a judgment.

See, e.g., Stewart v. Midwestern Indemnity Co. (1989), 45 Ohio St. 3d 124, 126. The above criteria are imposed both by the Ohio Constitution, Article IV, Section 3(B)(2), and the enabling statute, Section 2505.02 of the Ohio Revised Code. See Appendix, pp. 21-22.

The Order appealed from merely attached certain assets owned by William Kuntz and prevented him "from transferring his assets which could render any judgment obtained by appellee against appellant valueless." Decision and Entry, p. 2. It did not affect a substantial right. The merits of the cause of action were not determined. Finally, it had no outcome determinative impact on any judgment which may be rendered in the underlying proceeding.

Moreover, the prejudgment attachment statutes enacted by the legislature do provide for an appeal to be taken under the appropriate circumstances. The order for prejudgment attachment was issued pursuant to Section 2715.045 of the Ohio Revised Code, which provides:

Upon the filing of a motion for attachment, a court may issue an order of attachment without issuing notice to the defendant against whom the motion was filed and without conducting a hearing if the court finds that there is probable cause to support the motion and that the plaintiff that filed the motion for attachment will suffer irreparable injury if the order is delayed until the defendant against whom the motion has been filed has been given the opportunity for a hearing.

O.R.C. Section 2715.045(A) (Pages 1989 Supp.). See Appendix, pp. 19-20. The statutes then provide "Before judgment, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, the defendant may move to discharge an attachment as to the whole or any of the property attached. The motion shall promptly be heard and decided by the court." Id., Section 2715.44. See Appendix, p. 23. The right of appeal is outlined in Section 2715.46 which provides:

A party to a suit affected by an order discharging or refusing to discharge an order of attachment may appeal on questions of law to reverse, vacate or modify it as in other cases; and the original action shall proceed to trial and judgment as though no appeal had been taken.

Id., Section 2715.46 (emphasis added). See Appendix, p. 24. Thus, the prejudgment attachment system enacted by the legislature permits appeal only of an order discharging or refusing to discharge a prejudgment attachment order—not the initial grant or denial of such an order. The order which Appellant wants to be reviewed is merely the initial grant of the attachment.

The system as enacted is consistent with traditional concepts of appellate review. An appellate court should review the propriety of a lower court's decision only after both sides have had an opportunity to affect that initial decision maker. However, the prejudgment attachment statutes, especially Section 2715.045, envision ex parte orders. As a result, a trial court may issue an attachment order only after hearing one side's version of the applicable law and facts. However, by requiring the party adversely affected by the attachment order to begin his challenge to the order in the trial court permits that court to make a full record on all issues, which may then be reviewed through the appellate process.

Few Ohio cases discuss the appealability of prejudgment orders of attachment. However, those few cases do so in the context of an order discharging or refusing to discharge the order—not the initial grant or denial of the order. In Pilgrim Distributing Corp. v. Galsworthy, Inc. (1947), 148 Ohio St. 567, this Court stated "It follows that the decision on the motion to dissolve the attachment * * * is a final order and as such is appealable." Id. at 573-74 (emphasis added). This statement was relied upon by this Court in a later case involving a different type of order. Roach v. Roach (1956), 164 Ohio St. 587, 589. But cf. John H. Spencer, Inc. v. Baker & Hostetter (1987) 38 Ohio App. 3d 117, 118 (dicta).

The only conclusion which can be reached is that the order appealed from was not a final appealable order and the Appellate Court's decision so holding should not be disturbed by this Court.

B. PROPOSITION OF LAW TWO: THIS APPEAL DOES NOT PRESENT A CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION NOR IS IT AN APPEAL OF PUBLIC OR GREAT GENERAL INTEREST.

William Kuntz has challenged the Order on constitutional grounds. However, by failing to take any action in the Trial Court to dissolve or modify the Attachment Order as required by statute, William Kuntz has failed to preserve any reversible errors for review by this or any other appellate court. By not enabling the Trial Court to make a decision regarding his constitutional challenges, William Kuntz has only wasted the limited resources of the appellate judicial system.

If William Kuntz had first submitted his challenges to the Trial Court, perhaps the Order would have been dissolved or modified—obviating the need for any appeal. If the Trial Court denied his challenge, then the Appellate Court could have reviewed the Trial Court's logic and reasoning to determine whether the Trial Court erred in the application of the appropriate legal standards. This Court, if it so chose, could have then reviewed the Appellate Court's reasoning. By not providing the Trial Court with the initial opportunity, William Kuntz has failed to present to this Court an appeal involving a true constitutional question or an appeal of public or great general interest.

IV. CONCLUSION

Therefore, based upon the foregoing arguments, citations of authority, and references to the record, Society Bank respectfully requests that this Court deny William Kuntz's motion to Certify the Record and dismiss this Appeal.

Defendant-Appellant, Pro Se

PER CURIAM:

This matter comes before this court upon various motions filed by the parties in this action. Upon careful review of all motions, the court concludes the following:

1. The motion filed by appellant to stay this appeal because of Federated Department Stores filing of bankruptcy is OVERRULED in part. The stay applies only to Federated Department Stores, and not to all of the parties in this action.
2. The motion filed by the City of Dayton to dismiss itself from this action is SUSTAINED. As stated in its memorandum, appellant has appealed the decision from Case No. 11922. The City of Dayton was dismissed from that action and therefore this court finds the dismissal of the City of Dayton necessary.
3. The motion filed by appellee to dismiss appellant's appeal is well taken. Appellant appeals from an order of pre-judgment attachment provided for in R.C. §2715.045. This order prevents appellant from transferring his assets which could render any judgment obtained by appellee against appellant valueless. Appellant had the opportunity to move for discharge of the attachment pursuant to R.C. §2715.045(D). Since the order does not determine the action nor prevents a judgment, the order appealed from is not a final appealable order. Therefore, appellee's motion to dismiss appellant's appeal is SUSTAINED.

Therefore, this appeal is hereby DISMISSED.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE ON APPEAL

On September 14, 1989 plaintiff-appellee states in its complaint that it made a credit of $73,145.12 to the account of the Clerk of Courts. On Oct. 5, 1989 plaintiff-appellee filed an action in the Common Pleas Court entitled Society Bank, NA vs. William Kuntz, III, Case 89-3472. On Oct. 10, 1989 plaintiff-appellee apparently applied for an order of "Pre-Judgement Attachment" against among other property of the defendant-appellant a portion of the funds deposited by plaintiff-appellee with the Clerk of Courts on 9/14/89. On Oct. 13, 1989 a copy of the motion was received by defendant-appellant by regular US mail as set forth in the "Kuntz Affidavit". As further set forth in the Kuntz affidavit, the complaint together with the summons came by certified mail to defendant-appellant on Oct. 30, 1989 having been mailed on or about Oct. 18, 1989 some two weeks after the case was filed and 8 days after the Pre-Judgement Attachment was applied for by the plaintiff-appellee.

As of the date of the Kuntz affidavit and as of the date of this brief, no copy of the Pre-Judgment Order has been served upon defendant-appellant. From that order this appeal flows.

ARGUMENT OF THE CASE UPON APPEAL

The Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure provide that under Rule 51.8

"Except as otherwise provided in these rules, every order required by its terms to be served . . . shall be served upon each of the parties . . . upon a party shall be made by delivering a copy to him or by mailing it to him at his last known address . . ."

Accordingly it would seem that the action of Pre-Judgement Attachment is defective as no order has been served upon defendant-appellant.

Defendant-appellant notes that the rule provides that "every order by its terms to be served" should be the catch phrase if the order did not provide that the defendant-appellant were to be served with said order of the Pre-Judgement Attachment.

In researching for this brief, defendant-appellant has found four cases of the Supreme Court of the United States on Pre-Judgement Attachment. Sniadach vs. Family Finance Corp. of Bay View, et al., 395 U.S. 340, 1969; Fuentes vs. Shevin, Attorney General of Florida, et al., 407 U.S. 67, 1972 and Mitchell vs. W.T. Grant Company, 94 S.Ct. 1985, 1974; North Georgia Finishing, Inc. vs. Di-Chem. Inc., 95 S.Ct. 719, 1975. In each case the thinking on the Pre-Judgement Attachment flows and follows the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution as well as the fifth.

The traditional view and basis for Pre-Judgement Attachment flows from the concern that the plaintiff-appellee, if the complaint is found to be with merit will be able to satisfy his judgement.

"Similarly plaintiff will accomplish little by obtaining a judgement against the defendant, if during the action defendant has disposed of all his assets thereby rendering himself judgement proof"
 Art 60 Provisional, Remedies General NY Civil Practice Law, McKinney's New York Consolidated Law Reporter (6001.3)

"For centuries an order of attachment was granted ex-parte, on the theory that if the plaintiff told the defendant that he was about to seize the latter's property, the derendant would abscond with the property" attachment Art 62 NY Civil Practice Law McKinney's New York Consolidated Law Reporter (6211.1)

In this case, those facts requiring urgent ex-parte action do not in fact exist. The injury that plaintiff's complain of happened in February, 1989. The providing of a credit to the Clerk of Court's happened in Sept. Defendant-appellant did not even learn of the Sept. 14, 1989 payment until Oct. 13, 1989 when he received a copy of the motion for "Pre-Judgement Attachment" which was apparently granted on Oct. 10, 1989 ex-parte, without notice.

How defendant-appellant could remove and conceal the bulk of the funds attached by the Pre-Judgement Attachment when he was not even aware that these funds were "his" is beyond the comprehension of defendant-appellant. It is quite apparent that some goings-on behind the scene proceeded the plaintiff-appellee's action.

As to the real estate attached, IE 4100 Tam-O-Shanter Day, defendant-appellant has owned the property for a number of years and from time to time offered the property for sale. Most recently at a price of $160,160.10.

The mere filing of the lawsuit on Oct. 5, 1989 would provide notice of pendency to any prospective buyer who would examine the title and court records before paying such a sum. In short a lis pendens or caution as to the subject property would protect the banks recovery. Accordingly plaintiff-appellee could not reasonably show that condition did in fact exist.

"There may be cases in which a creditor could make a showing of immediate danger that a debtor will destroy or conceal disputed goods" Fuentes vs. Shevin, ibid. pg. 93.

Nor could plaintiff-appellee show such harm in that $73,000.00 would risk a financial institution with billions of dollars in assets.

“Thus, the court has allowed summary seizure of property . . . to protect against the economic disaster of a bank failure” Fuentes vs. Shevin, ibid. pg. 92.

Further there is no pressing government interest in such an ex-parte proceeding.

“Pre-judgement replevin statutes serve no such important government or general public interest. They allow summary seizure of a person’s possessions when no more than private gain is directly at stake” Fuentes v. Shevin, ibid. pg. .

Nor can the proposition that the plaintiff-appellee has been defrauded form a basis for Pre-Judgement Attachment.

“The questions of fraud . . . are equally ‘ill-suited’ for preliminary ex-parte determination particularly where, as here, the critical allegations of fraud, however detailed, are based upon information and belief” (6201.4) NY Civil Practice Law McKinney’s New York Consolidated Law Reporter citing Sugar vs. Curtis Circulation Co., DCNY.

Plaintiff-appellee concedes that it was not defrauded if that be the case until it made a willing credit to the account of the Clerk of Courts in September, 1989.

Up to that point in time it had suffered no injury, by any stretch of its pleadings.

Noting that property rights are no less sacred than personal rights, the court held that "the constitutional right to be heard is a basic aspect of the duty of government to follow a fair process of decision making when it acts to deprive a person of his possessions" (6261 ibid.)

Justice Harlan in his concluding opinion in Sniadach vs. Family Finance, id. pg 343:

"Due process is afforded only by the kinds of 'notice' and 'hearing' which are aimed at establishing the validity or at least the probable validity, or the underlying claim against the alleged debtor before he can be deprived of his property or its unrestricted use."

or as stated in Mitchell vs. W. T. Grant Company, ibid.:

"The question before the court in Fuentes was what procedures are required by the due process clause of the fourteenth amendment when a state, at the behest of a private claimant, seizes goods in the possession of another, pending judicial resolution of the claimant's assertion of superior right to possess the property. The court's analysis of this question began with the proposition that, except in exceptional circumstances, the deprivation of a property interest encompassed with the Fourteenth Amendment's protection must be preceded by notice to the affected party and an opportunity to be heard" p 1933.

Nothing like this action happened before plaintiff-appellee sought the Pre-Judgement Attachment. The record is clear that the summon's with the complaint was not mailed for at least a week afterwards.

Further, alleged fraud as claimed by the plaintiff-appellee can not be the basis for an ex-parte proceeding.

“With the exception of actions based on sister state judgements, the nature of the action—e.g. fraud. Conversion is no longer a ground for attachment. Rather, attachment is available only when it is necessary for jurisdiction or when the defendant is disposing of his property with the intent to defraud creditors . . . if the ex-parte procedure is employed, there must be an immediate hearing, brought on the plaintiff who has the burden of showing the ground for attachment, the need for it and the probability that he will succeed in the action. The plaintiff is now made absolutely liable for all damages occasioned by an improper or wrongful attachment and the undertaking is no longer the ceiling of his liability (6201.1 NY Civil Practice Law McKinney New York Consolidated Law Reporter).

ATTACHMENT

As the plaintiff-appellee has just filed his action and does not have a “sister-state” judgement, attachment could not be granted in New York ex-parte.

Article IV Section 1 of the United States Constitution provides that:

“Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state.”

Section 2 provides:

“The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.”

Plaintiff-appellee was granted ex-parte order of attachment without bond. New York provides that:

“Because of the obvious dangers to the defendant from the abuse of a provisional remedy, the plaintiff is generally required to put up an undertaking to indemnify the defendant against loss. CPLR 6212B, 6312B, 6403

‘. . . liability on the undertaking is absolute where the provisional remedy is vacated on the ground that the plaintiff was not entitled to it or where the defendants is successful in the action’ (6001.5 ibid.)

There is also the possibility of tort liability for malicious prosecution. Where the plaintiff—formerly defendant—can prove that the defendant—formerly plaintiff—obtained the provisional remedy maliciously and without probable cause.” (6001.5 ibid.)

It would therefore appear that plaintiff-appellee was able to obtain ex-parte Pre-Judgement Attachment against defendant-appellant from Ohio without bond when such action would not be permitted in New York. Accordingly such a proceeding clearly violates the constitutional protections to equal protection under law.

New York Law provides:

“An order of attachment granted without notice shall provide that with a period not to exceed five days after levy the plaintiff shall move, on such notice as the court shall direct to the defendant, the garnishee, if any, and the sheriff, for an order confirming the order of attachment. If the plaintiff fails to make such a motion within the required period, the order of attachment and any levy thereunder shall have no further effect . . .” (6210B ibid.)

Not only has defendant-appellant not had any such hearing, not even the order which effected the attachment has been served upon him, the barest of de minimis of due-process.

“In the last ten years, the United States Supreme Court has taken a dim view of provisional remedies, particularly when they are granted without notice to the defendant” (6001.3 ibid.)

Plaintiff-appellant sets forth that it will prevail in the action.

“Lawyers and judges are familiar with the phenomenon of a party mistakenly but firmly convinced that his view of the facts and law will prevail, and therefore quite willing to risk the costs of litigation, because of the understandable, self-interested fallibility of litigants.

A court does not decide a dispute until it has had an opportunity to hear both sides—and does not generally take even tentative action until it has examined the support of the plaintiff’s position” Fuentes v. Shevin, ibid. pg 33.

The basis for all of this is the position of the plaintiff-appellee that defendant-appellant is a resident of the State of New York.

Under Ohio case law both propositions that such non-resident status can allow ex-parte proceedings without bond must fail.

'A left Ohio with his family for New York with the intention of returning if he could compromise with his creditors, or to remain if he could get employment there. Neither of these contingencies happened. Held that he was not a nonresident, within the meaning of the foreign attachment law' —Smith v. Dalton, 13 Dec Repr 469, b Cin Super Ct R 150.

'A person who has moved to another state and is residing there, but who still considers this state as his home and domicile to which he will ultimately return, is not a "nonresident" within the meaning of the attachment laws—' Egan v. Lumsden P. McGovern, 13 Dec Repr 103, 3 Dec Repr 2 Disn 163, 4 Week Law Gaz 161 Wests CJS 25 nonresidence.

Accordingly the non-residence basis extended by plaintiff-appellee is not supported by Ohio Case Law.

CONCLUSION AND RELIEF SOUGHT

The Pre-Judgement Attachment obtained by the plaintiff-appellee does not even come close to the mandated standards for such actions.

Even the order for attachment obtained ex-parte without notice has not been served upon defendant-appellant. Such a lack of due process cannot stand the review of the Court of Appeals. We are all well aware of the power that banks enjoy. Both in obtaining information and the financial resources with which to press the commercial ventures they undertake, such as the arcade square. As the court may note, Society Bank, NA is not a disinterested party to these overall proceedings both that Society Bank, NA vs. Kuntz matter now before the court or other matters. A decision was made and a course of action was set upon with regards to a transaction which happened months ago. Nothing contained in the complaint can justify ex-parte—proceedings and as this court is aware defendant-appellant is not without sufficient interests in the community for the court to sanction such abuses.

Accordingly defendant-appellant would respectfully request that the court grant an order vacating the unserved order of Pre-Judgement Attachment and sanction the plaintiff-appellee $50 for the filing cost of this appeal, plus a reasonable allowance for postage and copy charges in serving the brief.

Respectfully submitted,

APPENDIX H—Order for Pre-Judgment Attachment

IN THE

COMMON PLEAS COURT OF MONTGOMERY
COUNTY, OHIO

SOCIETY BANK, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION,
Plaintiff,

v.

WILLIAM KUNTZ, III,
Defendant.

Case No. 89-3472
(Judge Meagher)

This cause came to be heard upon Plaintiff, Society Bank, National Association's ("Society Bank") Motion for Pre-Judgment Attachment ("Motion") filed in the above-captioned case.

Society Bank's Motion requests relief pursuant to Section 2715.045, which allows a Court to issue an order of attachment prior to judgment without notice and hearing only if certain conditions are met. Based upon the Motion, the attachments thereto, and the pleadings filed herein, this Court finds as follows:

1. Society Bank filed its Complaint in this case on October 5, 1989.
2. The Complaint is a civil action for the recovery of money.

3. The Defendant, William Kuntz, III, is not a resident of this State.

4. The obligation sued upon by Society Bank was fraudulently incurred.

5. Society Bank's claim arises upon the violation of judgments or decrees of the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery County, Ohio.

6. The Affidavit of William B. Fecher describes the property to be attached, states its approximate value, the location and use of the property, the name of any third person in actual possession of the property and that the property is not exempt from attachment or execution.

7. Probable cause exists to support Society Bank's Motion in that it is likely that Society Bank will obtain a judgment against William Kuntz, III.

8. Society Bank will suffer irreparable injury if the order of attachment is delayed in that William Kuntz, III may dispose of, conceal, or otherwise place the property to be attached beyond the jurisdiction of this Court.

9. Any bond of Society Bank which may be required pursuant to Ohio Revised Code Section 2715.044 is not required in this case as William Kuntz, III is not a resident of this State.

WHEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED THAT

FIRST, Society Bank's motion for pre-judgment attachment is well taken and sustained in all respects.

SECOND, the Sheriff of Montgomery County, Ohio is required to levy upon and attach the property set forth in Exhibit 1, attached hereto.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

Petitioner has stated the questions presented as:

1. Does the granting of an ex-parte pre-judgment attachment order against petitioner in favor of respondent deny due process?
2. Does the granting of an ex-parte pre-judgment attachment order against petitioner in favor of respondent, who is a national bank, deny equal protection?
3. Can the Courts of Ohio treat a resident of the State of New York as a non-resident when that citizen of the State of New York has substantial and ongoing contact and commerce within the community in Ohio?

Respondent contends that the Petition for Certiorari presents the following question:

Does this Court have jurisdiction to review constitutional challenges to a state trial court's issuance of a non-final, non-appealable prejudgment order of attachment where petitioner has failed to properly present the constitutional challenges in the state's judicial system?

Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2715.44 (Page 1989 Supp.): Before judgment, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, the defendant may move to discharge an attachment as to the whole or any of the property attached. The motion shall promptly be heard and decided by the court.	6
Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2715.46 (Page 1989 Supp.): A party to a suit affected by an order discharging or refusing to discharge an order of attachment may appeal on questions of law to reverse, vacate, or modify it as in other cases; and the original action shall proceed to trial and judgment as though no appeal had been taken.	6

COURT RULES

Sup. Ct. R. 14.1(h): If review of a judgment of a state court is sought, the statement of the case shall also specify the stage in the proceedings, both in the court of first instance and in the appellate courts, at which the federal questions sought to be reviewed were raised; the method or manner of raising them and the way in which they were passed upon by those courts; and such pertinent quotation of specific portions of the record or summary thereof, with specific reference to the places in the record where the matter appears (e.g., ruling on exception, portion of court's charge and exception thereto, assignment of errors) as will show that the federal question was timely and properly raised so as to give this Court jurisdiction to review the judgment on a writ of certiorari. When the portions of the record relied upon under this subparagraph are voluminous, they shall be included in the appendix referred to in subparagraph .1(k) of this Rule.

IN THE
SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
OCTOBER 1990 TERM

No. 90-1023

WILLIAM KUNTZ, III,
Petitioner,

v.

SOCIETY BANK, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION,
Respondent.

On Petition for Writ of Certiorari to the Second District Court of Appeals for Montgomery County, State of Ohio

RESPONDENT'S BRIEF IN OPPOSITION TO PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

I. STATEMENT OF THE CASE

A. FACTS. Although the facts underlying the present litigation are not relevant to resolving Petitioner's request for a writ of certiorari, those facts are briefly summarized as follows:

Petitioner received possession of a check made jointly payable to "William Kuntz, III and his attorney Robert Manley", drawn by the Montgomery County, Ohio, Clerk of Courts, on its checking account maintained with Respondent (the "Clerk's Check"). The Clerk's Check was issued pursuant to an order of an Ohio Common Pleas Court Judge.

Without obtaining the endorsement of the co-payee, Robert Manley, Petitioner negotiated the item in such a manner so as to obtain all the proceeds of the Clerk's Check. Respondent debited the Clerk of Court's checking account for the full amount of the Clerk's Check.

A demand was subsequently made upon Respondent to re-credit the Clerk of Court's account because the item was paid contrary to the joint payee language of the Clerk's Check. Respondent complied with this demand and later filed suit against Petitioner to recover damages caused by his actions. The instant appeal involves an order issued during that litigation.

B. PROCEDURAL HISTORY. The procedural history of this case presents the real issue for consideration of Petitioner's request for a writ of certiorari. On October 5, 1989, Respondent filed its Complaint against Petitioner in the Montgomery County, Ohio, Common Pleas Court. On October 10, 1989, Respondent filed a Motion for Prejudgment Attachment, accompanied by the statutorily required supportive materials. Judge Meagher sustained Respondent's Motion and issued an Order for Prejudgment Attachment ("Attachment Order"). Attached to Petition for Certiorari as Appendix 1h. The Attachment Order attached certain assets of Petitioner located in Montgomery County, Ohio, as security for a judgment which Respondent may recover in the future. Petitioner did not request that the trial court discharge, modify or amend the Attachment Order.

Petitioner appealed the Attachment Order to the Second District Court of Appeals for Montgomery County, Ohio. Petitioner's Appeal was dismissed, upon Respondent's Motion, because, pursuant to state law, the Attachment Order was not an appealable order.

In dismissing the Appeal, the Ohio Appellate Court stated "Since the order does not determine the action nor prevents a judgment, the order appealed from is not a final appealable order." See Decision and Entry, attached to Petition for Certiorari as Appendix 1f. Petitioner's Application to Reconsider that Decision was denied by the Ohio Appellate Court.

Petitioner's Motion to have the Ohio Supreme Court certify the record and review the decision of the Appellate Court was "overruled and the appeal dismissed sua sponte for the reason that no substantial constitutional question exists. . . ." Entry, attached to Petition for Certiorari as Appendix 1a.

II. ARGUMENT

A. PETITIONER HAS FAILED TO SATISFY THE JURISDICTIONAL REQUIREMENTS OF 28 U.S.C. § 1257 TO ENABLE THIS COURT TO REVIEW THE STATE COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Petitioner has requested that this Court review a state court proceeding and contends that an order issued by a state court trial judge is constitutionally infirm. Respondent requests that this Court deny the Petition for Certiorari. Petitioner did not properly request that any state court consider his constitutional challenges and, accordingly, this court lacks the statutory ability to review his constitutional challenges.

1. Petitioner Has Failed To Properly Present Or Preserve His Constitutional Challenges In The State Court Proceedings.

The ability of this Court to review results of state court proceedings is limited by 28 U.S.C. § 1257, which states:

Final judgments or decrees rendered by the highest court of a State in which a decision could be had, may be reviewed by the Supreme Court by writ of certiorari where the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States is drawn in question or where the validity of a statute of any State is drawn in question on the ground of its being repugnant to the Constitution, treaties, or laws of the United States, or where any title, right, privilege, or immunity is specially set up or claimed under the Constitution or the treaties or statutes of, or any commission held or authority exercised under, the United States.

28 U.S.C. § 1257(a) (1990). Simply put, this Court will only exercise its jurisdiction to review state court proceedings where the state court has decided questions of federal law upon the proper request of a party. See Webb v. Webb, 451

U.S. 493, 495 (1981). (Although Webb was decided prior to the enactment of the current § 1257, the current § 1257(a) is nothing more than the previous § 1257(3) which was applied in Webb, with minor modifications).

Additionally, in the petition for certiorari, it is incumbent upon the petitioner to "specify the stage in the proceedings, both in the court of first instance and in the appellate courts, at which the federal questions sought to be reviewed were raised; the method or manner of raising them and the way in which they were passed upon by those courts; . . ." Sup. Ct. R. 14.1(h). See also Webb, 451 U.S. at 495. Because Petitioner failed to present his federal questions to the trial court, or comply with the Supreme Court Rules in his Petition, the Petition for Certiorari must be denied.

2. Petitioner Did Not Properly Appeal The Attachment Order In The State Court System So That The State Appellate Courts Never Had The Opportunity To Review Petitioner's Constitutional Challenges To The Attachment Order.

Petitioner is likely to argue that he raised his constitutional challenges in the state court system, in both the appellate court and the Ohio Supreme Court. However, Ohio law requires that the challenges first be raised in the trial court, which Petitioner failed to do. The initial grant of an order of prejudgment attachment is not appealable. Ohio's Constitution grants appellate courts only the ability to review final judgments or orders of trial courts. Ohio Const. art. IV, § 3(B)(2). See also Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2505.02 (Page 1989 Supp.) (Ohio's statutory definition of "final order"). Petitioner's Appeal in the Ohio system was dismissed because the Attachment Order was not a final, appealable order. Decision and Entry of Ohio Court of Appeals, p. 2, attached to Petition for Certiorari as Appendix 1f. Accordingly, the Ohio Appellate Court did not rule on Petitioner's constitutional challenges because it did not have the jurisdiction, or the authority, to do so.

Ohio's prejudgment attachment statutes permit the issuance of an order of prejudgment attachment without notice or hearing if certain conditions are satisfied. See Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2715.045(A) (Page 1989 Supp.). Before the initial issuance of an order of prejudgment attachment can be appealed, the defendant is required to move the trial court to discharge the attachment order. See Id., § 2715.44. The right of appeal of a prejudgment attachment order is outlined in Section 2715.46 which provides:

A party to a suit affected by an order discharging or refusing to discharge an order of attachment may appeal on questions of law to reverse, vacate or modify it as in other cases; and the original action shall proceed to trial and judgment as though no appeal had been taken.

Id., § 2715.46 (emphasis added). Thus, the prejudgment attachment system enacted by the Ohio Legislature permits appeal only of an order discharging or refusing to discharge a prejudgment attachment order — not the initial grant or denial of such an order. The order which Petitioner seeks review of is merely the initial grant of the attachment. The statute expressly protects Petitioner's due process rights by affording him a hearing upon request. However, in this case, Petitioner failed to request the hearing.

The system as enacted by the Ohio Legislature is consistent with traditional concepts of appellate review. An appellate court should review the propriety of a lower court's decision only after both sides have had an opportunity to affect that initial decision maker. However, the prejudgment attachment statutes, specifically Section 2715.045, envision ex parte orders. As a result, a trial court may issue an attachment order only after hearing one side's version of the applicable law and facts. However, by requiring the party adversely affected by the attachment order to begin his challenge to the order in the trial court permits that court to make a full record on all issues, which may then be reviewed through the appellate process. See Webb, 451 U.S. at 500.

Few Ohio cases discuss the appealability of prejudgment orders of attachment. However, those few cases do so in the context of an order discharging or refusing to discharge the order — not the initial grant or denial of the order. In Pilgrim Distributing Corp. v. Galsworthy, Inc., 148 Ohio St. 567 (1947), the Ohio Supreme Court stated “It follows that the decision on the motion to dissolve the attachment * * * is a final order and as such is appealable.” Id. at 573-74 (emphasis added). This statement was relied upon by The Ohio Supreme Court in a later case involving a different type of order. Roach v. Roach, 164 Ohio St. 587, 589 (1956). But cf. John H. Spencer, Inc. v. Baker & Hostetler, 38 Ohio App. 3d 117, 118 (1987) (dicta).

Petitioner is contending that the Order of Attachment violated his due process rights and denied him equal protection of the laws. Ohio law requires that, under the applicable statutes, the Petitioner assert his constitutional challenges in the trial court. However, by failing to present those issues to the trial court by requesting that the trial court discharge the Order of Attachment, he has failed to present or preserve his constitutional challenges to the Attachment Order for review by this Court. See Michigan v. Tyler, 436 U.S. 499, 512 n.7 (1978).

B. PETITIONER'S PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI CHALLENGING THE VALIDITY OF A PREJUDGMENT ORDER OF ATTACHMENT HAS BECOME MOOT BECAUSE RESPONDENT HAS BEEN GRANTED A FINAL JUDGMENT IN ITS FAVOR ON THE MERITS.

The Petition should be denied for the additional reason that the issue is moot. The Attachment Order appealed from was a prejudgment order of attachment, which is designed to ensure that, under the appropriate circumstances, a plaintiff which recovers a judgment against a defendant will be able to satisfy that judgment because the defendant will be precluded from transferring or disposing of his assets. Respondent in this case requested that relief and the trial court determined that the statutory requirements had been satisfied.

On December 21, 1990, the trial court entered Judgment in Respondent's favor and ordered that Petitioner pay Respondent the sum of $73,145.12 plus appropriate interest. See Decision, Entry, and Order, appended hereto as Appendix A. Respondent has certified that Judgment and has begun enforcement proceedings. Accordingly, as Respondent now has an Order of Judgment, there is no need for it to rely upon the Prejudgment Order of Attachment, and Petitioner's challenges to the validity of the Attachment Order are now moot. Petitioner's due process or equal protection rights can no longer be violated by the Attachment Order, which has been superseded by the final judgment in Respondent's favor. Therefore, this Court should deny the Petition for a Writ of Certiorari. Cf. Murphy v. Hunt, 455 U.S. 478 (1982) (appeal of denial of pretrial bail rendered moot due to intervening criminal conviction).

III. CONCLUSION

Respondent respectfully requests that this Court deny the Petition for a Writ of Certiorari. Petitioner has failed to present his constitutional challenges in the state judicial system such that this Court has the authority to entertain this appeal. The order initially appealed was not, under Ohio law, a final, appealable order. Under the statutory scheme enacted by the Ohio Legislature, Petitioner was required to assert his constitutional challenges in the trial court, which he failed to do.

Additionally, since the trial court has issued a final order granting Respondent its requested relief, the Attachment Order is no longer necessary and Petitioner's constitutional challenges are now moot.

Therefore, based upon the foregoing arguments and citations of authority, Respondent respectfully requests that this Court deny the Petition for a Writ of Certiorari.

APPENDIX A

IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY

CASE NO. 89-3472
(Judge John M. Meagher)

SOCIETY BANK, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION,
Plaintiff,

vs.

WILLIAM KUNTZ, III,

Defendant.

DECISION, ENTRY, AND ORDER SUSTAINING IN PART AND OVERRULING IN PART DEFENDANT'S
OBJECTIONS TO THE REFEREE'S REPORT

(Filed December 21, 1990)

This matter comes before the court on defendant's objections to the referee's report.

On February 7, 1989, this court issued an Order of Distribution in the case captioned City of Dayton v. William Kuntz III, Case No. 86-2439. The order required the Clerk of Courts to issue a check in the amount of $73,145.12 payable to "William Kuntz III and his attorney Robert E. Manley," and to deliver the check to Manley. The Clerk complied with the order.

On or about February 10, 1989, Manley received the Clerk's check and forwarded it to defendant William Kuntz III, instructing defendant to endorse and return the check. Manley did not endorse the check.

Rather than comply with Manley's instructions, defendant on February 27, 1989, took the check to plaintiff Society Bank's main branch and requested that it be exchanged for a cashier's check. Plaintiff complied with defendant's request.

The cashier's check issued by plaintiff contained two mistakes. First, the payee line read "William Kuntz III and his attorney," rather than "William Kuntz III and his attorney Robert E. Manley." Second, the remitter information identified the source of funds as defendant's savings account rather than the Clerk's account.

On February 27, 1989, defendant deposited the cashier's check into his savings account. The check was never endorsed by Manley, nor did Manley authorize any individual to endorse or negotiate the check on his behalf. Between February 27, 1989, and March 20, 1989, defendant withdrew the sum of $72,619.93 from his savings account.

On or about September 14, 1989, plaintiff realized its mistakes and credited the Clerk's account in the amount of $72,619.93. On September 22, 1989, this court issued an amended order of distribution, requiring the Clerk to pay Manley $51,101.21. The Clerk complied with the amended order.

Plaintiff brought this action, seeking recovery of its payment of the Clerk's check to defendant. The referee heard the matter and issued her report on June 13, 1990. The referee found that defendant violated the court order of distribution, breached his presentment of good title to the Clerk's check, and received payment under a mistake of fact. Accordingly, the referee recommended that a constructive trust be imposed on defendant's funds which plaintiff is able to trace; that judgment be entered in favor of plaintiff in the amount of $73,145.12 plus interest at the rate of ten percent per annum from September 14, 1989; that the stays issued by this court on the remainder of the Clerk's account in this matter remain in effect until final judgment; and that the cost of this action be paid by defendant.

Defendant submits fourteen objections to the referee's report. The court rules on these objections as follows.

Objection 1. Defendant notes that the referee's report incorrectly cites the venue of defendant's bankruptcy case. This objection is immaterial. Overruled.

Objection 2. Defendant notes that the Clerk was ordered by the court to hold the remainder of the funds in this matter following payment to Manley. Defendant then contends that the referee should have recommended judgment in favor of plaintiff only in the amount paid to Manley. Defendant's contention is not well-taken. His liability to plaintiff is the full amount of the damage to plaintiff, $73,145.12 plus interest at the rate of ten percent per annum from September 14, 1989. The funds on hold by the Clerk may assist plaintiff in its efforts to collect judgment, but they may not be used to reduce defendant's liability. Overruled.

Objection 3. Defendant notes that this matter has not been joined with City of Dayton v. Kuntz, the case in which this court ordered distribution. Defendant then contends that the referee's recommendation in this case may not affect the stay granted Manley in City of Dayton v. Kuntz. Defendant is correct. This issue does not, however, affect defendant's liability in this matter. Sustained.

Objection 4. Defendant contends that the referee "failed to correctly analyze the case on a transaction basis." Specifically, defendant contends that he was a holder in due course of the cashier's check at the time he deposited it into his account. Consequently, according to defendant, he is exempt pursuant to R.C. 1303.28 from imposition of a constructive trust. The court finds, however, that the referee thoroughly examined plaintiff's issuance of the cashier's check and found that it was a mistaken negotiation. This finding is amply supported by the evidence. Defendant was not a holder in due course. Overruled.

Objection 5. Defendant questions the referee's finding that defendant had no authority to deposit the Clerk's check without Manley's endorsement. Defendant contends that "it is ambiguous whether [the Clerk's check] is a two-party check/joint payee." The court finds that this issue was also thoroughly examined by the referee and that her finding is overwhelmingly supported by the evidence. The check was clearly a joint payee check. Overruled.

Objection 6. Defendant contends that the "referee's report failed to consider the testimony of defendant with regards to the issuance of the cashier's check." The report, however, clearly reflects that the referee did consider Kuntz's stated reasons for his actions. After such consideration, the referee found that Kuntz had violated the court order of distribution. This finding is reasonable and is supported by the evidence. Overruled.

Objection 7. Defendant contends that the referee failed to consider the importance of the fact that the Clerk's check contained the restriction "void if not cashed in 60 days." Defendant asserts that he had no recourse but to deposit the check because of time constraints. Defendant, however, deposited the check only twenty days after the order of distribution. Defendant had ample time to either comply with Manley's instructions or to obtain Manley's endorsement. This contention was also properly considered by the referee and rejected. Overruled.

Objection 8. Defendant contends that the referee "failed to consider the true effect of the missing Manley endorsement." Defendant asserts that Manley's instructions were contained in a letter accompanying the check and were not on the check itself. Defendant does not assert that he did not notice or did not comprehend Manley's instructions. He simply asserts that, since the instructions were not on the check itself, they are ineffectual. Consequently, according to defendant, his depositing the check contrary to Manley's instructions was not improper. Defendant further contends that plaintiff constructively provided Manley's endorsement, and that such constructive endorsement was proper pursuant to R.C. 1304.11(A) (UCC 4-205(A)). These contentions are entirely baseless. First, the check was clearly a joint payee check. Second, defendant's argument is not consistent with the law. The Code Section cited by defendant, R.C. 1304.11(A), permits a depository bank to supply its customer's endorsement only when the check was deposited by the customer or credited to his account. Here, Manley was not a customer of plaintiff nor did Manley deposit the check. Overruled.

Objection 9. Defendant contends that the referee failed to consider whether plaintiff had a valid defense of its actions with regard to a challenge by the Clerk. In other words, defendant asserts that plaintiff had no duty to correct its mistake. This contention is also baseless. First, plaintiff certainly had a duty to correct its mistake. Ed Stinn Chevrolet v. National City Bank, 28 Ohio St. 3d 221 (1986). Second, this issue has no effect upon defendant's liability for his actions. Overruled.

Objection 10. Defendant contends that plaintiff has failed to show a "step-by-step linkage" between the order of distribution and the present balance of funds in this matter. This contention is irrelevant to the issue of whether defendant violated the order of distribution and improperly benefited from such violation. That issue was thoroughly reviewed by the referee and her finding is supported by the evidence. Overruled.

Objection 11. Defendant contends that the referee failed to rule on plaintiff's motion in limine and that this failure prejudiced defendant in his presentation of evidence. The court finds no prejudice to defendant in this regard. The referee explained prior to the hearing that she agreed with the "general spirit of the motion," but would "reserve judgment until the evidence is actually attempted to be introduced." Then throughout the hearing both parties objected to the admission of certain evidence at various times and the referee ruled on each objection. Overruled.

Objection 12. Defendant contends that the referee failed to consider two cases, Hutzler v. Hertz Corp., 39 N.Y. 2d 209, 347 N.E. 2d 627 (1976), and Sonnenberg v. Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., 87 N.Y. Misc. 2d 205 (1976), which defendant asserts are the landmark cases on point. The court does not agree with defendant's contention. First, the cases are not on point. The question in Hutzler was which of two innocent parties should bear the loss caused by an attorney's dishonest acts. Sonnenberg involved an intermediary collecting bank and a forged endorsement. Second, there is sufficient Ohio case law on the issue at bar. See Ed Stinn Chevrolet v. National City Bank, 28 Ohio St. 3d 221 (1986); Cincinnati Insurance Co. v. First National Bank, 63 Ohio St. 2d 220 (1980). Overruled.

Objection 13. Defendant via this objection attempts to "renew" his motions to dismiss which the referee recommended be denied in an entry dated March 2, 1990. The court has reviewed the referee's recommendation and finds that defendant's motions were properly denied. Overruled.

Objection 14. Defendant contends that the referee erred in not requiring the "docketing" of the Manley deposition. The court finds, however, that a transcript of the deposition was filed with the Clerk and that relevant portions of the deposition were read into the record. Overruled.

In accordance with the foregoing, the recommendations of the referee are adopted with one modification. The modification is that determination of this case will not affect the stay ordered by the Honorable Judge Brown on the funds held by the Clerk of Courts in this matter.

Defendant and counsel for plaintiff should take note that this decision is also in the form of a judgment entry. Therefore, the time for prosecuting an appeal to the Second District Court of Appeals must be computed from the date upon which this decision and entry is filed.

The above captioned case is ordered terminated upon the docket records of the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery County, Ohio. Copies of the above were sent to all parties listed below by ordinary mail this date of filing.

APPENDIX B

Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2715.045

(A) Upon the filing of a motion for attachment, a court may issue an order of attachment without issuing notice to the defendant against whom the motion was filed and without conducting a hearing if the court finds that there is probable cause to support the motion and that the plaintiff that filed the motion for attachment will suffer irreparable injury if the order is delayed until the defendant against whom the motion has been filed has been given the opportunity for a hearing. The court's findings shall be based upon the motion and affidavit filed pursuant to section 2715.03 of the Revised Code and any other relevant evidence that it may wish to consider.

(B) A finding by the court that the plaintiff will suffer irreparable injury may be made only if the court finds the existence of either of the following circumstances:

(1) There is present danger that the property will be immediately disposed of, concealed, or placed beyond the jurisdiction of the court;

(2) The value of the property will be impaired substantially if the issuance of an order of attachment is delayed.

(C)(1) Upon the issuance by a court of an order of attachment without notice and hearing pursuant to this section, the plaintiff shall file the order with the clerk of the court, together with a praecipe instructing the clerk to issue to the defendant against whom the order was issued a copy of the motion, affidavit, and order of attachment, and a notice that an order of attachment was issued and that the defendant has a right to a hearing on the matter. The clerk then immediately shall serve upon the defendant, in the manner provided by the Rules of Civil Procedure for service of process, a copy of the complaint and summons, if not previously served, a copy of the motion, affidavit, and order of attachment, and the following notice:

Case No. _____

You are hereby notified that this court has issued an order in the above case in favor of (name and address of plaintiff), the plaintiff in this proceeding, directing that property now in your possession, be taken from you. This order was issued on the basis of the plaintiff's claim against you as indicated in the documents that are enclosed with this notice.

- (1) Workers' compensation benefits;
- (2) Unemployment compensation payments;
- (3) Aid to dependent children (A.D.C.);
- (4) General assistance (G.A.);
- (5) Social security benefits;
- (6) Supplemental security income (S.S.I.);
- (7) Veteran's benefits;
- (8) Black lung benefits;
- (9) Certain pensions.

If you dispute the plaintiff's claim and believe that you are entitled to possession of the property because it is exempt or for any other reason, you may request a hearing before this court by disputing the claim in the request for hearing form, appearing below, or in a substantially similar form, and delivering the request for hearing to this court at the above address, at the office of the clerk of this court, no later than the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice. You may state your reasons for disputing the claim in the space provided on the form; however, you are not required to do so. If you do state your reasons for disputing the claim, you are not prohibited from stating any other reasons at the hearing, and if you do not state your reasons, it will not be held against you by the court and you can state your reasons at the hearing. If you request a hearing, it will be held within three business days after delivery of your request for hearing and notice of the date, time, and place of the hearing will be sent to you.

You may avoid a hearing but recover and retain possession of the property until the entry of final judgment in the action by filing with the court, at the office of the clerk of this court, not later than the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice, a bond executed by an acceptable surety in the amount of $_____.

If you do not request a hearing or file a bond before the end of the fifth business day after you receive this notice, possession of the property will be withheld from you during the pendency of the action. Notice of the dates, times, places, and purposes of any subsequent hearings and of the date, time, and place of the trial of the action will be sent to you.

Clerk of the Court

(2) Along with the notice required by division (C)(1) of this section, the clerk of the court also shall deliver to the defendant a request for hearing form together with a postage-paid, self-addressed envelope or a request for hearing form on a postage-paid, self-addressed postcard. The request for hearing shall be in substantially the following form:

“(Name and Address of Court)

Case Number _____ Date _____

REQUEST FOR HEARING

I dispute the claim for possession of property in the above case and request that a hearing in this matter be held within three business days after delivery of this request to the court.

I dispute the claim for the following reasons:

(Optional)

WARNING: IF YOU DO NOT DELIVER THIS REQUEST FOR HEARING OR A REQUEST IN A SUBSTANTIALLY SIMILAR FORM TO THE OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THIS COURT WITHIN FIVE (5) BUSINESS DAYS OF YOUR RECEIPT OF IT, YOU WAIVE YOUR RIGHT TO A HEARING AND POSSESSION OF THE PROPERTY WILL BE WITHHELD FROM YOU DURING THE PENDENCY OF THE ACTION."

(D) The defendant may receive a hearing in accordance with section 2715.043 [2715.04.3] of the Revised Code by delivering a written request for hearing to the court within five business days after receipt of the notice provided pursuant to division (C) of this section. The request may set forth the defendant's reasons for disputing the plaintiff's claim for possession of property. However, neither the defendant's inclusion of nor his failure to include such reasons upon the request constitutes a waiver of any defense of the defendant or affects the defendant's right to produce evidence at any hearing or at the trial of the action. If the request is made by the defendant, the court shall schedule a hearing within three business days after the request is made, send notice to the parties of the date, time, and place of the hearing, and hold the hearing accordingly.

(E) If, after hearing, the court finds that there is not probable cause to support the motion, it shall order that the property be redelivered to the defendant without the condition of bond.
